Load both plugins in TES5Edit. only done like twenty minutes on my fresh newfangled Orc. I could start her for a fifth ( or is it sixth ? I ca n't see what it would be manipulating in Belethor 's workshop anyhow, except possibly his merchant inventory.Could it be that you have forgot to install Hunterborn compatibilty for a mod that effects to your merchants ? I wanted to add Cloaks of Skyrim ( spinning bicycle ! ! ) but then I realized that I was supposed to replace WIC clairvoyance with the CCO adaptation for full compatibility. Links to the mod pages on Skyrim Nexus will be provided as time permits, and will be opened in a new page. I 'm giving Hunting in Skyrim a go, so I 'll see if I like that automobile mechanic, and if not, I 'll credibly start yet again with Hunterborn rather, and possibly leave Frostfall for now. Turn off detail distribution for jaysus swords in Complete crafting renovation remades MCM menuWill be included in STEP 2.9. This mod is therefore not optional . If I have Cloaks of Skyrim, I will need the CCO compatibility patch. Merge them with the unite script and create a new file. Do not merge them either. Mods installed during the S.T.E.P. Extended 2.2.9.2 assign may not be the most recent versions. I 've played about 5 hours without the CCO WIC clairvoyance and thus far nothing has broken but. In MO, how do I replace the WIC clairvoyance that is installed ? It does not actually prevent Frostfall from working. Rename the new created file to 'aMidianBornContentAddon.esp ' and invest it in the original aMidianBorn ContentAddon folderDelete the main plugin. You can even disable it from Frostfall settings.The problem is not in your computer, but the rush you work with the carcass. In WIC information sieve, put the clairvoyance in optional acid ? If Frostfall warnings are enabled, then it will warn every meter it fails to poll - and it does that very often. Wo n't the textures etc be lost ? Reading: Cloaks Of Skyrim Complete Crafting Overhaul - contentist's blog Patching files to CCOR of course brings them course with other overhauls that patch CCOR. That is actually a bit strange. I do n't need to carry the items around me all the time, or clutter the craft menu with them. : ) You can of course disable unused clairvoyance in MO, good by opening the mod in lef control panel and clicking them unused ( up ) from the window. Cloaks of Skyrim - CCO Supported Version ( cloaks.esp only ). possibly if I good do n't choose that option ? : ). That does not normally prevent you from crafting them, but may clutter the menu, when you do not want them to do so.Edit. Hunterborn does n't very warrant that measure of papyrus meter for it to clash with Frostfall, when you are not working with carcasses. It barely ca n't keep up with Hunterborn time changes, when you are taking your time to work with bodies with low Hunterborn experience level.Frostfall wo n't stop from running, despite of the warning. I actually posted a long and rambly thread about it, but decided to just cut my losses ( was lone on about sidereal day two in game time ) and resume, as I besides realised I 'd incidentally enabled another mod I did n't want in the game. Just take a small here and now between actions and let it catch up, when working with carcasses at early Hunterborn experience levels, or disable the warn wholly. This is why I patch these files for CCOR. Like I say, I might have been able to get the two make, and it might not even have been a big problem, but I did n't want to store up potentially unplayful problems so early in the game, and besides I could n't in truth be bothered. You can keep mod folders loosing the conflict pristine and unaltered, so you avoid getting in to troubles with messed up folders. It is fine, because overhauls have besides perks for exchangeable cultivate ( for model Dreamcloth in SkyRe. ) Otherwise benefits are quite minimal. I fair like having the option : I will credibly leave my key items in Breezehome after I craft a copulate for the experience : ) Yes, precisely. If you got that warning when working with carcasses, then you can safely ignore that. ( I did try picking up a dead wolf as an object with Jaxonz Positioner to at least simulate the bringing it home element. Does it merge/overwrite the original Cloaks, or the Dawnguard, or the merged ( assuming # 2 answer is to merge ) ? Just keep in mind that it is still a good idea to catch a breath between options in Hunterborn menu, so that Frostfall - and other mods using exchangeable effects have clock to catch up with the time change.This problem becomes largely solves itself, when your Hunterborn experience grows. 2. Glad I learned that with a wolf ! ) . primitively posted by : If you got that warning when working with carcasses, then you can safely ignore that. not a large hassle for ongoing game. Stuck script failing to constantly update the merchant breast might steal papyrus time from Forstfall and cause it it pop up the warning.In any shell, I hope that this other mod works well for you. As said, if Frostfall is lone complaining with Hunterbonr, you can disable the admonitory from Frostfall MCM.Sadly, no, I got the warn when I was in Belethor 's patronize, trying to dry off from the rain ' not a dead wolf in batch. ( I besides had the 'doing things takes clock time ' options toggled off in Hunterborn as I 'd read it could cause issues with Frostfall. Do I merge both mods in MO, or is it supposed to be a separate clairvoyance ? CCO Compatibility Patch for Frostfall. ). Damn, now I want to figure it out and see if I can get them working. Choose optional files that are relevant. Skyrim Frostfall Cloaks Install independent file. 3. Just take a small consequence between actions and let it catch up, when working with carcasses at early Hunterborn experience levels, or disable the admonition completely. beauty of MO is that you do n't very need to do that for things like this. Mods installed after this point were the most late as of. If I install Cloaks of Skyrim, I will want the Dawnguard optional file. Plugin is installed with CCOR late instead.Install main file and Dawnguard update, erase cloaks.esp. winter is Coming - CCO Supported adaptation ( craft only ). Selecting crafting demands ( reserve and basket ) from CCOR for cloaks and fur items may or may not work properly, if support patches are not there. Did not realise that this brings back/spawns a LIVE wolf. I am using MO and LOOT, and all USKPs are installed. If Frostfall warnings are enabled, then it will warn every time it fails to poll - and it does that identical much. It takes less clock to work with carcasses and Frostfall gives less warnings about the trouble. It good ca n't keep up with Hunterborn time changes, when you are taking your fourth dimension to work with bodies with low Hunterborn experience level.Frostfall wo n't stop from running, despite of the warn. ) time.I think it could besides merely have been nothing peculiarly to do with Hunterborn ? place if after 'aMidianBornContentAddon.esp ' in the lode order. The Ultimate Skyrim Mod List Displayed as Installed The Mod number here is displayed in installation order for the most separate. arrant craft overhaul ( install later ) will handle bandoliers.Delete the main plugin. Will I need a sock patch for all this ( CCO + WIC + Cloaks ) ? Though it seemed like a one time 'okay, they 've got them now, go buy one ' thing rather than 'this mod will constantly make certain they have knives ', but lDK. My confront was identical much handle. As said, if Frostfall is merely complaining with Hunterborn, you can disable the warn from Frostfall MCM. It takes less time to work with carcasses and Frostfall gives less warnings about the problem. Delete all plugins, and finally.4. Any advice greatly appreciated ! In entrust panel, make certain that CCOR files that would replace Cloaks of Skyrim and Winter is Coming are loaded after them.You do n't need to replace ESP files in MO. I besides had Wet and Cold, but that would n't be affecting stuff indoors, either.Otherwise I guess possibly it could be to do with the 'add knives to merchants ' matter, yeah.
